

Abstract

A hologram diffuser for a liquid crystal display wherein a resin layer with a desired thickness is formed on an upper substrate. A hologram pattern is formed in the resin layer using a hologram plate. A smoothing layer with a desired thickness is formed on the hologram layer provided with the hologram pattern. Accordingly, it is possible to assure a wide visual angle and realize a high picture quality.